

(This part can be read by an announcer or business owner)

Are you tired of being passed over for a promotion?

Do first dates seldom become second dates?

With all due respect, do you think it could be your manners or lack of?

No seriously. A recent Princeton study showed that 52% of what people think about you is formed by what they see or your appearance; 36% of what people think is due to your body language or mannerisms, and 12% is your spoken words.

Do you think it might be time for an assessment?

(This part is read by you.)

Hello. This is Wanda Anderssin. I'm a Certified Image Coach and PR Consultant. For almost 20 years, I've coached business leaders, politicians, celebrities, and sports stars. I've even helped hundreds boost their confidence, improve their earning potential, and improve their business and personal relationships.

Now, I want to do the same for you. This is why I've created the Instant Image and Public Relations Success System. Packed with over 20 uniquely crafted programs for improving your behavior, your etiquette, and your business and social connections, my program will help you develop the social graces to be in control.

With my proven program, you'll learn the turnkey solutions to accelerating your business and personal life.

- Learn to enhance your own charisma and attract the right publicity.
- Learn to connect with anyone in 10 seconds or less.
- Learn to persuade others to avidly agree with you.

Upon completion of the Instant Image and Public Relations Success System's combination of image consulting, dressing for success, and etiquette training-- you'll finally be able to increase your "star power", earnings, and influence.

For additional information on my Instant Image and Public Relations Success System, go to my web site, www.WandaAndersinn.com (coming soon!), and sign up for my free CD which will get you started on your own pathway to success. A pathway, which can only be paved with your star power.